Special to the Democrat.

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—Jay Gould, the great railroad magnate and financier, died at his home on Forty-seventh street and Fifth avenue in this city, at 9:15 this morning.

Pulmonary consumption was the cause of his death. He had been in ill health for a long time, and was taken down about one week ago and never rallied.

He began sinking rapidly at an early hour last night.

Mr. Gould's death was apparently painless, and he was conscious at the last.

His bedside was surrounded by all the members of his family. Mr. Gould died in a room on the second floor of his home at Forty-seventh street and Fifth avenue, being the same room in which his wife died. A few moments before Mr. Gould expressed a desire to bid his family good bye, and when they had gathered around him, he looked tenderly into the face of each one, smiled at each and all was over.

There were present at the bedside at the moment when the spirit of the great railway king took its flight, George and Edwin Gould and their wives, Howard and Helen Gould and the members of the family, while at the Windsor hotel, just across the street, were S. H. H. Clark, general manager of the Union Pacific, and a number of warm personal friends and associates of the dying man.

Mr. Clark had come to New York to consult with his chief, but found him too sick to think of business.

The funeral will take place on Monday from the family residence. Drs. Paxton and Turner and Chaplain McCracken will officiate.

Miss Helen Gould is prostrated by the death of her father. Drs. Munn and Janeway notified the family late last evening that death was near. They give the cause of death as pulmonary consumption.

When the stock exchange opened there was no great apparent excitement.

The fluctuations in the Gould stocks were not particularly active. Missouri Pacific naturally reflected the effect of Mr. Gould's

THE CRIME TROUBLES DICK ROBINSON IN HIS DREAMS.

The Murderer of Johanna Schollman Brought Back and Lodged in Jail—No Accomplices.

Sheriff Ellis K. Smith returned from California, Mo., yesterday afternoon with Dick Robinson, the negro who murdered Johanna Schollman, a German servant girl, on the night of Sunday, October 23, near the corner of Seventeenth and Monticau streets in the south part of the city.

A DEMOCRAT reporter called at the jail to see Robinson this morning. The murderer is haunted day and night by the remembrance of the terrible crime. He walks the corridor of his cell incessantly and never seems at rest. A cob pipe filled with the strongest tobacco is his constant companion, and the vision of blood that he attempts to lose in its fumes would no doubt be a fitting parallel to Poe's "Murder in the Rue Morgue."

Robinson did not hesitate to talk about his crime, but seemed cautious, as if he had formulated an exact and well defined story. His confinement has told upon him somewhat and a yellow tinge has come into his complexion. While the excitement that would lead to mob violence has now abated, yet Robinson feels ill at ease and his actions show that he would not be surprised at anything. He has not yet secured legal advice and expects to retain his lawyers to-day.

He was asked his motive for murdering the girl, and replied: "There was none in the world. Hannah never before acted so strangely as long as I had known her. I told her to go on home, but she attacked me and I became frightened and lost my head. I did not know what I had done until after she was killed."

"Was it your purpose to drag her from the corner where she was killed and place her on the railroad track to have it appear that she was killed by the cars?"

"It was not. My fright was so great that I did not know where I was dragging her, and had no reason at all for removing her from the spot."

"What about your having an accomplice?"

"There was no one connected with me in the killing of the girl; I had no previous idea of committing the crime and, as I said before, scarcely knew what had transpired until I saw she was killed. No, sir, there was nobody but myself."

Robinson further stated that he would plead guilty when his case came before the grand jury, which convenes next Monday. He denied any criminal intimacy with the girl, and said that she had never acted toward him in a manner that would warrant any such presumption on his part. He also disavowed any knowledge that the woman was en route at the time of her death. He says that what he will say before the grand jury will be a reiteration of his former assertion.

Robinson, like most negroes, has a little superstition about him. He says that during the long dark watches of the night he is awakened by the details of the murder pressing themselves upon him, making him unable to sleep.

SADNESS AT KNOXOSTER.

Death of a Beautiful Little Girl To-day.

Special to the Democrat.

KNOXOSTER, Mo., Dec. 2.—Earleen Winkler, the beautiful and only child of A. P. Winkler and wife, died this morning at 3 o'clock of membranous croup. She was a lovely child, loved and petted by all. Idolized by her parents and those with whom she was intimately associated.

The parents are heart broken and bowed down with great grief. Their loss leaves them childless and lonely. They have the sympathy of their many friends. Earleen was a beautiful child, 6 years old, bright and winsome, made friends with everyone she met, was the pet of her room at school. Her death has cast a gloom over the city. The school closed for the day and the sadness has crept into every house that knew her. She will be interred in the city cemetery Sunday.

CIRCULATION.

There are more Sedalia people regular readers of the EVENING DEMOCRAT than any other paper.

THE SUNDAY DEMOCRAT.

Commencing next Sunday, December 4th, the DEMOCRAT will issue a Sunday morning edition.

The EVENING DEMOCRAT has received a most cordial and hearty welcome at the hands of the people of Sedalia.

There has been a constant and steady growth both in circulation and advertising that has been most encouraging to the management of the paper.

There has not been a month in the history of the paper when its circulation did not show a substantial increase over the previous month, and while, not yet one year old, the DEMOCRAT has built up a circulation that other papers have for years striven in vain to secure.

The Sunday morning edition will be made a first class local paper, and we feel certain will meet the same cordial reception that has been given the EVENING DEMOCRAT.

Hereafter no paper will be issued on Saturday evening, but the Sunday morning edition will be issued instead.

The EVENING DEMOCRAT will be issued each evening, except Saturday, as heretofore.

The low price at which the DEMOCRAT is furnished to subscribers—ten cents per week—has made it the people's paper, and hence the best advertising medium for the business man who desires his announcements to reach the homes of Sedalia people.

DEATH OF JAY GOULD.

"Jay Gould is dead."

Such was the brief message that flashed over the wires this morning to every newspaper office in the country; to every chamber of commerce in the world; to the marts of trade everywhere.

A week ago he was taken ill, and after that time he never rallied.

The business world watched the sick bed and speculated as to what effect his death would have on Wall street.

So, when the announcement came, it was not unexpected and the shock was less by reason of the fact that business circles were prepared for it.

Jay Gould was a typical American in push, energy and daring.

No country ever produced his superior in the lines of speculation and railroad development in which he chose to exercise his talents.

His rise was a fight against terrific odds; his position was held at all times against powerful rivals.

His greatest work was in building up the Missouri Pacific system, and this was his especial pride.

That he made enemies among his associates is well known; that he made even more bitter enemies than most men is equally true, but how could he tear down rivals, smash syndicates, destroy and again build up without making enemies?

The millions he accumulated cost him labor that few men could or would perform, and now it remains to be seen whether the sons can carry on the work begun by the father.

The effect of Gould's death upon the enterprises in which he was most heavily interested cannot be foretold, but it is not at all likely that anything like a panic will follow.

"LEAVING OUT BOONE"

Boone is a grand old county—grand in resources, grand in the character of her population, and grand in her democracy.

She is an important factor in politics and the Herald thus tells what would be the state of affairs if Boone were left out:

"Leaving Boone out of consideration W. S. Shirk, republican candidate, would have been elected supreme judge. Burgess had only 918 plurality. Boone gave him 2,322 and settled Shirk.

Cleveland's plurality would have been cut down 2,558 without Boone county's vote and Governor-elect Stone would have received 2,525 smaller plurality.

In this congressional district Jno. T. Heard received a plurality of 3,706. Hastain and Pinkham combined got 1,141 more votes than Mr. Heard. Of the democratic plurality Boone gave 2,563. Our popular congressman would have been dangerously near defeat without these ballots.

Boone is grandly democratic even if she did lose the banner this year by a few votes."

THE Lexington News in the following paragraph makes a suggestion that should be adopted by the democrats of every community where a club has been organized:

"During the recent campaign in this county about twenty democratic clubs were organized, and it is admitted on all sides that they did splendid work in winning the handsomeness victory lately achieved. Why not make these organizations permanent? There will be contests to be waged in the future, and with a thorough organization such as we now have, democrats will be ready at all times for the fray. This suggestion is thrown out, and it is to be hoped every club will act on it. Let a roll of the membership be preserved, and secure new members whenever opportunity offers. If these suggestions are adopted and carried out the party in this county will be in such splendid condition that we can tell just what we can depend upon and just where we are at in all future contests."

THE Sedalia prisoner who braved the desperate men who were trying to escape from the jail, and gave the alarm to the officers, is coming in for some share of fame. It is probable, too, that his good conduct will be placed to his credit when the trial comes on. The Moberly Democrat says: "Three prisoners made a bold attempt to break jail at Sedalia Thursday, and were intercepted by a fellow prisoner. In their rage all three fell on him and a battle for life ensued. He was severely punished but thwarted their designs, and declared he would die rather than allow them to escape. He certainly has in him the elements of a citizen rather than a subject for the penitentiary, and as a consequence it is safe to say his freedom will be gained the first of the four."

THE Republic says, "The Brussels conference is controlled by monometalists." Of course it is. Nobody really expected anything else. It was a make-shift, a deception, a fraud from the start. Some people favored it because they hoped it would dispose of the troublesome silver question for a time. Others wanted the gold standard fixed permanently and hoped the conference would do it. But nobody expected the interests which demonetized silver to seriously work to restore it to its place as a money metal.

THE Springfield Leader thinks it has discovered another source of danger to the political peace and quiet of the country. The Leader says: "The amendment to the constitution of this state authorizing cities and towns to pension superannuated and dependent firemen was adopted by a majority of 25,

336. The vote stood, for, 109,575; against, 84,639. This will create in every city in the state a new faction in politics. The firemen will insist that this amendment be put into operation at once, and it will become a political issue in every city in the state. Wherever adopted it will impose a heavy expense upon the tax-payers, as the number of indigent firemen will increase as rapidly as pensioners thirty years after the close of the war."

Do THEY work on Sunday at the penitentiary? The Jefferson City Democrat says: "Governor Francis did right in informing the warden of the penitentiary that his proclamation of thanksgiving meant what it said, and enforcing its observance at the penitentiary, and it will be well to let it be known also that Sunday is not a working day under the laws of Missouri."

THE Dalton gang of train robbers and desperadoes, so long a terror to Kansas and the Indian territory, is broken up at last, and the work of gathering them in is nearly completed. The killing at Coffeyville was the beginning of the end, and yesterday one of the boldest of the gang was arrested in Indiana, and will be tried in Oklahoma for his many crimes.

JEFFERSON CITY is anxious to negotiate with Springfield for the building of a railroad between the two points, and is watching now to see if Sedalia will not delay matters long enough to let the charter expire. Sedalia must raise her part of the subsidy at once in order to encourage the other towns on the line of the proposed road.

THE DEMOCRAT learns that Mr. John W. Jacks, editor of the Montgomery Standard, is a candidate for the position of chief clerk of the house of representatives. He is in every way worthy of the honor and competent to discharge the duties of the office.

CIRCUIT court convenes at Lexington next Monday, and Judge Field has an immense amount of business on hands. There are nine divorce cases on the docket and one slander suit in which there are four hundred witnesses.

THE St. Louis admirers of Gov. Stone will give a banquet in his honor just prior to the inauguration and Gov. Francis will be similarly honored on the eve of his retirement from office.

THERE must be no delay in the matter of raising the subsidy asked for by the Springfield, Sedalia, Marshall and Northern railroad. Any delay will defeat the enterprise. It is now or not at all.

PETTIS county needs a new jail and needs it badly. The proposition was defeated once, but that does not prove that it would share a similar fate if submitted again.

THE proposition to establish waterworks and an electric light plant at Columbia is to be submitted to a vote of the people on December 17th.

JOHN J. O'NEIL has completed his investigation in regard to the late election in his district and will at once file his papers to contest Joy's election.

THE labor troubles at Homestead are not yet settled and it is probable that the strike will again be declared in force.

It is pretty well settled that the Texas legislature is favorable to Hon. Roger Q. Mills for United States senator.

THE wide-awake Sedalia should be present at the court house to-night and make his influence felt.

THE Jefferson City Democrat is for Dalton for United States senator to succeed Senator Cockrell.

THE pension department needs to be thoroughly overhauled and the pension lists purified.

Do you want the north and south railroad? That question must be answered to-night.

THE convention hall should be built next spring.

"A Social Session."

Coming to the Opera House next Saturday evening, Dec. 3, has been thoroughly and completely re-written and revised, and it now appears a novel and magnificent creation, replete with life and action, bubbling over with fun and jollity and studded with the brightest gems of music and song; appealing to the most elevated musical tastes, and with its actors, comedians, vocalists, dancers and musicians forming a combination that at once places this company at the head of recognized American comedies.

There is no one person starred in "Social Session"—every character is interpreted by a clever artist and each has full power to make his individual part as great a success as possible. They come to our city with a record of five years of solid success and the praise of press and public from ocean to ocean.

Metropolitan Stock Company.

This well known attraction will commence an engagement of two nights at the opera house on Monday evening next.

On the opening night the new version of "Only a Farmer's Daughter," will be produced. On Tuesday evening the beautiful French drama, "The Clemenceau Case," will be staged. As now presented it is replete with comedy and funny situations.

Miss Voorhees, who assumes the role of "12 A," is said to be very winsome, and with artistic abilities which rank high. She is supported by the original New York company, and they are highly endorsed by public and press.

The Violins of Old.

The great violin makers all lived within the compass of one hundred and fifty years. They chose their wood from a few great timbers felled in the south Tyrol, and floated down in rafts; pine and maple, sycamore, pear and ash. They examined these to find streaks and veins and freckles, valuable superficially when brought out by varnishing.

They learned to tell the dynasty of the pieces of wood by touching them; they weighed them, they struck them, and listened to judge how fast or how slow, or how resonantly they would vibrate in answer to strings. Some portions of the wood must be porous and soft, some of close fibre. Just the right beam was hard to find; when found, it can be traced all through the violins of some great master, and after his death in those of his pupils.

The piece of wood was taken home and seasoned, dried in the hot Brescia and Cremona sun. The house of Stradivarius, the great master of all, is described as having been as hot as an oven. The wood was there soaked through and through with sunshine. In this great heat the oils thinned and simmered slowly, and penetrated far into the wood, until the varnish became a part of the wood itself.

The old violin makers used to save every bit of the wood when they found what they liked, to mend and patch and inlay with it. So vibrant and so resonant is the wood of good old violins that they murmur, and echo, and sing in answer to any sound where a number of them hang together on the wall, as if rehearsing the old music that they once knew. It was doubtless owing to this fact that when the people could not account for Paganini's wonderful playing, they declared that he had a human soul imprisoned in his violin, for his violin sang and whispered even when all the strings were off.

American Cholera.

From the Daily Revue, Wheaton, Wash. "T. C. Burnett, the democratic candidate for sheriff, was taken violently ill at Clearbrook. He had all the symptoms of Asiatic cholera, and for an hour or two it was feared he would die. They finally gave him a dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which revived him until a physician arrived." That is precisely what the manufacturers of that medicine recommend for cholera. Send for a physician but give their medicine until the physician arrives. If cholera becomes prevalent in this country next summer this preparation will be in great demand because it can always be depended upon. For sale by Aug. Fleischmann, druggist.

PERSONAL.

Al. Windsor, of St. Louis, is in the city.

Patsy Rogers is laid up with a sprained wrist.

E. S. Van Arsdale is representing St. Louis in the city.

Mrs. D. Mason, of St. Louis, is a guest at Sicher's.

Jno. L. McMann, of Washington, D. C., is at Sicher's.

Mrs. P. G. Stafford returned today from Kansas City.

S. P. Johns left at noon for Pana, Ill., on a visit to his mother.

Mrs. Max Jacobs and little son, Isador, are visiting at Holden's.

Dr. T. E. White has been attending the farmers' institute at Higginsville.

Miss Margaret Walker, of Pleasant Green, is visiting Mrs. Fred Guenther.

Mrs. W. C. Westlake, of Dresden, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Edgar Palmer.

S. E. Lowe, of St. Louis, is enjoying the hospitality of Hotel Kaiser to-day.

John Murphy, the traveling man, came in this morning from a trip south on the "Katy."

M. B. Shaffer, master carbuilder of the Missouri Pacific, at St. Louis, is in the city to-day.

Ex-Senator John J. Ingalls passed through the city yesterday on his way to Washington, D. C.

Miss Lillian Lewis, of Washington, D. C., is the guest of Mrs. J. C. Brown on West Twelfth street.

Mrs. A. W. Perry returned at noon from Kansas City, where she has been visiting her son, Phil B. Perry, and wife.

Mrs. Anna McDonald, of Dayton, Ohio, has arrived in the city and will spend the holidays with her sister, Mrs. S. F. Shackles.

Mr. and Mrs. S. K. Bullard will entertain Monday evening with a card party in honor of Miss Bailey, of New York, and the Misses Lyman, of Illinois.

George Turnell, the printer, is up from Parsons to-day, on business, and will return Sunday. Mr. Turnell has a desirable position with the Foley Printing company at Parsons.

Dr. R. D. Haire and wife, formerly Miss Maude Maus, were entertained between trains yesterday by Dr. W. C. Overstreet, and left for their home in Schell City on the evening train.

Removal Notice.

J. M. Stonestreet has removed his photograph parlors from 219 Ohio street to 315 Ohio street, where he would be pleased to have his customers call.

Police Court.

Three negro bums were up for late hours, but were given a stay to get out of town.

Special Officer Frank West attempted to round up several cows running at large a day or so ago when their owners, Thomas Spidell, Tot Savage and Aiken Mackey prepared for war. A warrant was sworn out for their arrest and the case will come up next Tuesday.

He Couldn't If He Would.

Harry Phillips, clerk at Kaiser's, has been offered a most lucrative commercial position at Salt Lake city. The Democrat knows of no one who is more deserving of the good things of life than Harry, but it is more than probable that he will remain in Sedalia, held safe and fast by the attractions of a pretty pair of eyes.

Would Send it to Him.

An old farmer with a celtic disturbance in his voice, walked into the Sedalia bank yesterday and after much effort pulled from the depths of his pocket a roll of bills that amounted to about $200. He received a certificate of deposit and started to leave when he turned and in an incredulous way wanted to know if that piece of paper would produce the money when he wanted it again. The cashier explained matters to the apparent satisfaction of the old celt. He then wanted to know what would become of the money should he die. The cashier, who is noted for his obliging ways, politely told him that he would send it to him. "To be sure, to be sure," said the old fellow as he walked away perfectly contented.

Elegant Offices.

Mr. J. K. Wasson, who represents the New York Life insurance company in this city, is now "at home" in his elegant offices formerly occupied by the Commercial club. The club has leased Mr. Wasson the two west rooms and he has had them fitted up as model offices. The rooms are among the handsomest and most eligible in the city, but they are not better than are deserved by Mr. Wasson and the company he represents.

A Fine Record.

Marshal De Long has some figures in his pocket to-day that are certainly a credit to himself and assistants. From April 11th to the present date there have been 1,269 arrests made by the police department. The amount of fines collected is $3,479.26. The number of thieves arrested, convicted and sent away has been greater for the same length of time than at any other period in the history of the city.

The people of Sedalia appreciate the good work of Marshal De Long and trust that he may soon have his force increased as he desires it.

Death of an Esteemed Young Lady.

Miss Anna Clay, aged 27, the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Clay, died of dropsy yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock at Kirksville, Mo., where she had gone for medical treatment. The deceased was a devout member of the First Methodist church and was an earnest worker. A large circle of friends mourn her death. The funeral took place at 3 o'clock this afternoon from the family residence, No. 110 East Sixth street. Rev. A. R. Cronce, pastor of the First Methodist church, conducted the ceremonies.

SHOP AND RAIL.

ITEMS OF INTEREST TO LOCAL TRAINMEN

News About Different Roads, Employers and Employees.

"Mac" Inch, well known in Sedalia, is up from Parsons, the first time in two years.

T. T. Taylor, chief clerk of the Seventh postal railway division, of Fort Scott, is in town.

J. P. Lindsay, superintendent of the Seventh postal railway division, is up from St. Louis to-day on business.

A. B. Smith, the M., K. & T. general office messenger in this city, has retired, the office being abolished.

Chief Surgeon, E. F. Yancey, was a passenger south last evening. Gus Fleischmann wants to know if he forgot anything before he left.

Peter Tarwater, the well known postal clerk expects to resume his run Monday, after a two weeks' tussle with symptoms of typhoid fever. Pete is to be congratulated in escaping it.

Conductor J. M. Winters, of the Katy, running between Sedalia and Hannibal, is laid up at his home in the latter place, suffering with a fracture of the right arm between the wrist and elbow. The accident occurred at Higbee Wednesday night while making a coupling, his arm being caught between the bumpers.

Traveling Like Lords.

Six special M., K. & T. cars have gone south to meet the directors of the road who are enroute from New York via the Mallory steamship line and who will land at Galveston. The gentlemen will ride in varnished cars at the expense of the company and from the appearance of the larder will not go hungry.

General Roadmaster Rockwell went south this morning. George B. Cumming, of the M., K. & T. at Parsons, is in the city. S. K. Bullard, superintendent of telegraph for the M., K. & T., left last night for his home in Sedalia. Patsy Sullivan, an employee of the M., K. & T. in this city, is visiting his relatives in Missouri. Al. Fowler, who was one of the first engineers that ever took a train out of Denison on the M., K. & T., met with a painful accident a few days ago on the Fort Worth and Denver railway. Engineer Fowler went out with engine No. 7, which has been in the shops forty days. The engine split a switch and turned over. Engineer Fowler's right leg received a compound fracture which may necessitate amputation.—Denison Herald.

Not Entirely Satisfactory.

New postal car E, on the Katy, is not the success that was expected. The postal clerks find that the arrangement of the car does not afford as easy work in handling the mail, even though there is a greater amount of space. The mail bags have to be piled in places that interfere with many details of handling the distribution.

A RAILROAD ROW.

The M., K. & T. Will Try to Prevent the K. C., N. & Ft. S. From Crossing its Track.

Trouble was expected last night at Clayton, in Vernon county, on the M., K. & T. between representatives of that road and a construction gang acting under orders of the officials of the new line, the Kansas City, Nevada and Ft. Smith railway. The survey of this road crosses the M., K. & T. at Clayton and last night was the time set for grading and laying the track across the main line and right of way of the Katy.

Vice President Purdy has issued orders to prevent such an occurrence and as a result there is music in the air. Both roads have a force of men watching each other and as a result work on the K. C., N. & Ft. S. at this point is at a standstill. As a still more formidable barrier, the M., K. & T. has built a spur at this point and across the survey of the new road, upon which they have placed an engine and a train of cars.

At an early hour this morning, the track had not been laid.

Pocket Book Lost.

Lost, on November 29th, either in Sedalia or on Clifton road, a red leather pocket book, containing about $155. Reward of $25 to finder. Leave at First National Bank.

THE PLATTENBURG CASE

His Friends Want Him Released on Bail.

The friends of Harvey W. Plattenburg, once a citizen of Sedalia, will read with interest the following from the Lexington News:

"The habeas corpus proceedings to secure the release of Mr. Harvey W. Plattenburg on bail was to have been heard by Judge Richard Field, but as Prosecuting Attorney Aull had applied to the supreme court for a writ of prohibition, holding that Judge Field, circuit judge, had no jurisdiction to admit to bail a person held in custody, on a charge of crime, where there is special criminal court, and when the judge thereof was present in the county, the case did not come up. On Monday the application for a writ of prohibition was heard by the supreme court and the same denied. Accordingly, on Tuesday Mr. Plattenburg's attorneys went before Judge Field for the purpose of having a day set for the hearing of the application for bail. As circuit court meets next week, Judge Field set Monday, December 19, as the day to hear the same."

Rod Gallie Dangerously Sick.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon the condition of Rod Gallie was no better. He is suffering with dropsy and heart disease and his doctors have but little hope of his recovery. He is still able to take nourishment and his great courage may pull him through.

Mrs. E. B. Farley, wife of the well known M., K. & T. traveling auditor, leaves to-morrow for a visit with friends in Quincy, Ill.

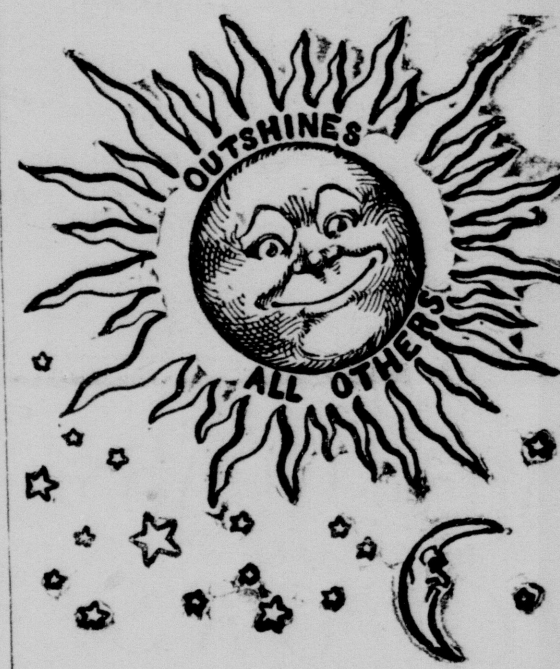

A Quiet Time.

The court house boys are having an easy time to-day, there being little or no business transacted.

Farmers come fifteen miles to my store to get Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Many of them, like myself, are never without it in their homes. It cured my boy of a severe attack of croup and, I believe, saved his life—K. DALTON, Lauray, Russell county, Kansas. This remedy is a certain cure for croup and, if used as soon as the first symptoms appear, will prevent the attack. For sale by Aug. Fleisch-Druggist.

COME AND SEE THEM.

Counterfeiting.—In a few days you will undoubtedly see advertised, by some would-be competitor, Overcoats for $12 or $12.50, but, let us assure you, these Overcoats we offer you in this Special Sale were purchased for this occasion, and we have too many to speculate on them at regular prices—hence they must go—at $12.50, and all imitating sales can't compare with our values. Of course, if there were no genuine dollars, there would be no counterfeits. Pretty hard to be the counterfeits sometimes, but in our Special Overcoat offerings you will easily detect the genuine at sight.
